

2 Snow Trains Coming Sat.

DETROITERS WILL SPEND WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY HERE

President Roy Trudgen announces the coming of two "Snow Trains" next Saturday—Washington's Birthday—from Detroit. As this is probably the last snow train excursion from Detroit this season it is expected that it will bring a crowd of over 1000 people.

Predominating among the passengers will be a group of over 300 employees of the Detroit-Edison Company, many of whom are executive officials. They are taking advantage of the national holiday by coming here to enjoy an afternoon of winter sports.

The men at the Winter park say that everything is in excellent condition and that every feature will be in full operation that day and Sunday.

Let's get out and give this season's last Kirby Snow Train a real Grayling welcome. And it would be fine if the band too could be at the depot to help welcome the visitors.

And Emil Giegling says that every auto available should be there to carry passengers. We've made a great record, and let's keep it up to the finish.

FLINT SNOW TRAIN SPECIAL CANCELLED SUNDAY

According to reports there were a lot of angry people in Flint the last week end when the special Pere Marquette winter sports train for Grayling for Sunday was cancelled.

Reports say that predictions of severe storms and cold by a Flint newspaper caused the sponsors for the train to order it cancelled. Over 500 passenger reservations had been made and money paid in so when cancellation orders were announced there was beating of chests and blue air everywhere, according to reports.

However Messrs F. W. Welfare and C. U. Ude, members of the Flint Outdoor club, were not to be denied and they got into communication with the Kirby Travel Bureau, Detroit and arranged for reservations on that train from Lapeer for 150 Flint passengers.

The next thing to do was to get these passengers to Lapeer, a distance of 17 miles. Welfare and Ude dug right down into their jeans and paid out nearly $200 of their own money for transportation of that crowd to Lapeer and return in the evening.

These men should be pretty popular in their home town for they were the means of giving 150 Flintites one of the grandest afternoons they ever had. As everyone here knows, it was one of the finest days of the winter season and everything at the Winter park was functioning ideally. Sunday's crowd was one of the merriest and finest crowds we have ever entertained. And too they were most appreciative, and many couldn't understand how it was that Grayling men used their private cars for transportation to and from the Winter park without charge. "They say hospitality begins at the Mason-Dixie line, but instead it begins at Grayling," was a remark made by a prominent Detroit. The fact is that the Winter Sports Association officials and committees are so appreciative of the help the home people are giving, that it is a pleasure to work for them.

Boys and Girls Snow Carnival

The Wetomachick Camp Fire Girls have everything in readiness for the big time at the Winter Park on Friday, Feb. 21st. A truck will await the crowd at the school building and will transport to and from the park. The charge will be 3c a round trip.

Upon arrival at the park, Russell Robertson and his co-workers will run off all the events. The novelty ice-events will be first. Those who wish to enter the broom race or three-legged race will be sure to bring an old broom and a piece of rope. Bring your own sleds and skis.

To those who become hungry at supper time, "Red-Hots," hot cocoa and candy bars will be sold by the Camp Fire Girls. Red-hots 5c; cocoa 3c. Have plenty of pennies so there will be no delay in making change. At 7 o'clock all will return home.

HUMMING BIRDS
We met at the Michelson Memorial church last Saturday at 1:00 o'clock. There were nineteen present. We have two new members, Betty Jane Smith and Barbara Ann Simpson. It was Edwina Simpson's birthday so we had a birthday party at the church. We all wish to thank Mrs. Simpson for the lovely lunch she prepared for us. We had a Valentine box and played games. Edwina received many nice gifts.

Buyann Clippert is able to be back with us now and we are all very glad to have her.

Jane Elizabeth Milnes.

High School Group
Thursday evening, the High School Group of Camp Fire girls met at the Annex.

We have decided to give a play later on. The majority of the group was in favor of a mystery play. No further plans have been made as yet. We also decided that it would be very nice to hold meetings once a week.

New officers were elected as follows:
Asst. Guardian—Dorothy Wakeley.
Chairman—Faye Wells.
Vice Chairman—Erdine Larson.
Treasurer—Bessie Askins.
Recording Sec.—Jean Wakeley.
Corresponding Sec.—Kathryn Carr.

After the meeting had been adjourned, the visitors, Miss Cook, Miss Tumath, Miss Conboy, and Miss Douglas arrived. Later refreshments were served. A grand time was reported by all who were present.

Kiwanians Observe Wash. Birthday

Washington's birthday prompted a fine program in commemoration of the occasion by the local Kiwanis club, when on Wednesday evening they had a banquet, with their ladies present, an appropriate program and dancing party. It was held at Shoppenagons Inn.

While enjoying a delicious chicken dinner, patriotic and other songs were sung. Everyone was in a merry mood and enjoying the occasion.

President Emil Giegling welcomed the guests. He introduced Mr. J. D. Macnaughton who gave a brief outline of a health plan that is being sponsored by the federal department of health relative to chronic diseases. A more detailed account of the plans of this new commission appears on the first page of this issue of the Avalanche.

Attorney Charles E. Moore gave the Washington birthday address, beginning with a resume of the boyhood activities of Washington, and carrying the theme right thru to his final days. He gave a very graphic word picture of the life of Washington, bringing in many interesting sidelights that are not generally known. Mr. Moore had many compliments for his excellent address.

Following the program several hours were spent in social conversation and dancing. It was an occasion that was greatly enjoyed by everyone present.

Dr. Fred J. Cook, local dentist, will be the speaker at the meeting next Wednesday noon.

COL. FRANK KNOX

Col. Frank Knox, prominently mentioned as a Republican Presidential possibility, who has just completed a speaking tour of the Midwest, the East and New England, during which he vigorously attacked government extravagance and declared for a balanced budget, stabilized currency and lowered taxes.

W. Branch Play Grayling Friday

The green-clad basketball warriors of good old Grayling high play their last game of the 1935-36 season, Friday, night, when they tangle with the West Branch Orioles at the school gym.

The Orioles played a fighting game on their home floor earlier in the season as they went down to defeat at the hands of our noble Northern Lights. West Branch is noted for its clean playing and for its good sportsmanship. We are always glad to welcome them here because we know that they will furnish the local fans with the kind of good, clean, playing that they like.

This will be the last season game for five of our first string. Those closing their basketball careers (except for the District Tournament) are Lovely, Smock, Borchers, Bradv. and G. Hanson. Most of these boys have played on G.H.S. basketball teams for four years, so come on out, you fans, and give them your support in this, their final stand.

Grayling Defeats Roscommon
Last Friday night, Grayling's basket-tossers took Roscommon into town on their own floor by a score of 23-16.

Although at times displaying the worse basketball of the year, the Northern Lights were strong enough to overpower the Paul-coached squad for the second time this season.

Grayling's sharpshooters possessed the lead during the entire game and were never seriously pressed by the Gerrish-Higgins team.

The Grayling Reserves lost a hard fought battle to the Roscommon seconds, 16-9.

Washington Notes And Comments

By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff Tenth Michigan District.

I have introduced in the House of Representatives an amendment to the Social Security Act which, if adopted, will increase the Federal contribution to old age pensions paid by the states from $15 to $30 per month. This would make it possible for the needy old people to receive as much as $60 per month for the individual beneficiary, or $120 per month for an aged couple, when necessary, to meet every reasonable need. I am hoping this amendment will be adopted during this session of Congress and that there will be a liberalization of the administration of the law to the point where our old people may have the means of living as decent, law-abiding, self-respecting American old people should live. This can be done without putting burdens of taxation upon the poor people of this country beyond their ability to bear.

The Administration's Agricultural Bill that I stated last week had been reported by the committees of the House and Senate without any hearings whatsoever and without consideration which should be given legislation before it is reported to either House of Congress, has passed the Senate and will undoubtedly be passed by the House within the coming week. It seems a shocking thing to me that members of the two branches of Congress, who upon assuming the office they hold, raise their right hands and solemnly swear to support the Constitution of the United States, should knowingly violate that oath and vote for legislation which is clearly unconstitutional. The fact that this is done is an indication of the power which can be exercised by an administration.

In the debate on this bill in the Senate its unconstitutionality was repeatedly pointed out by both Republican and Democratic members of that body. The feeble defense of the measure made by the Chairman of the Committee, Senator Smith of South Carolina, a man of experience and exceptional ability, was an indication that he also believed with those challenging the validity of the measure.

The Democratic-controlled appropriations committee recently displayed a hitherto unsuspected independence of action which, if continued, will have a most wholesome effect. This committee flatly refused to include in the War Department appropriations bill an item of $33,000,000 requested by the Administration to continue work on Passamaquoddy Bay, the Florida Canal, Grand Coulee Dam and three other smaller "emergency" projects.

None of these projects, the total cost of which will run into hundreds of millions, and the economic need of which does not exist, were authorized by the Congress, but were initiated under the delegation of extraordinary powers to the President in the huge grants of funds for "emergency" purposes since the new deal came into power. The Appropriations Committee declined up to this time to grant authorization of money for continuing these projects, and it would appear from this that the spirit of independence would continue to govern the actions of the committee. To the initiative, however, it seems plain that before the session has closed, deficiency appropriation bills will be presented to the House carrying appropriations for these projects which have been demanded by the President of the United States.

Marriages.

BALCH-LA MOTTE

Of interest to their many friends will be the marriage of Miss Margaret LaMotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaMotte, to Mr. L. W. Balch, of Bellevue. The young couple spoke their vows before Rev. Fr. James Moloney at 8:30 o'clock, Saturday evening at the St. Mary's rectory. Miss Madonna Cariveau and Robert LaMotte were the attendants.

For the occasion the bride chose a black crepe tunic gown with white satin top which was matched with accessories of black. Her corsage was of red roses and sweet peas. Miss Cariveau's corsage was of pink carnations and her gown a tunic with black skirt with green top of metallic material. Her accessories were also black. The bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clough completed the wedding party.

Mrs. Balch is a graduate of Grayling High School of the class of '31 and Mr. Balch graduated from the 1930 class of the Bellevue High School. Both have a host of friends who extend their wishes for a long and happily wedded life.

KNIBBS-OSTRANDER

Of interest to their many friends will be the marriage of Miss Mildred Elizabeth Ostrander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ostrander, of Cadillac, to Mr. James Edward Knibbs, of Roscommon, son of James Knibbs of Grayling.

The marriage took place in Cadillac, Feb. 15th, the couple being attended by the bride's cousin and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Edwards, of Cadillac. The happy couple have a host of friends who extend congratulations and best wishes.

PANKOW-ROOD

An announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Lavina Rood, to Mr. Arthur Pankow, that took place September 14, at Lagrange, Ind.

The young couple did not reveal their marriage until recently, preferring to keep it secret until they were able to establish a home.

Mrs. Pankow is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rood, and Mr. Pankow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pankow. Both have made their home here in Grayling most of their lives and have a host of friends to wish them much happiness and a long and successfully wedded life.

FREDERIC MUSICIANS ARE ACTIVE

For the past six weeks a hill-billy orchestra has been in the making. It consists of violin, banjo, two guitars, two mouth organs and a few haw-p. These boys get together twice a week and make the rafters ring.

There is also a Hawaiian guitar class. After the boys (and incidentally we have one girl violinist) get over their stage fright, we would like to have the public come in occasionally, as critics.

Grange Notes

We had a very interesting lecture hour Saturday. Among other topics the Townsend plan was discussed.

We are sorry some of our members are on the sick list.

Mrs. Carrie Feldhauser was winner of the quilt sold by the Grange.

There was a very good attendance of Grangers at the meeting Saturday, several of the county roads having been cleared of snow by that time.

We had a pleasant time at our box social at the I.O.O.F. Temple Friday night. Head prizes for pinocle were won by Frank Serven and Mrs. Nettie Stephan, and consolations went to George Skingley and Mrs. Love. There were not many Grangers from the country present, probably owing to the roads being impassable.

U. S. Health Survey Under Way

ENUMERATORS BEING SELECTED AND TRAINED

Selection is being made of field workers who will collect information on the Health Inventory, under the direction of the U. S. Public Health Service. Forty men and women enumerators, after being selected and trained, will begin canvassing all the families in Crawford, Otsego, and Roscommon counties.

Financed by W.P.A. under the relief appropriation, the survey will be conducted by the United States Public Health Service, and will provide data for the use of medical profession and local health departments in their research into the cause and treatment of chronic diseases and handicapping physical conditions. Ninety-five selected cities, towns and rural communities are being canvassed by trained W.P.A. employees, and housewives are asked to provide medical histories of their families.

Prevalence of arthritis, asthma, nephritis, bronchitis, cancer, diabetes, digestive disorders, epileptic attacks, goiter, hay fever, neuromuscular disorders, tuberculosis and other chronic ailments will be determined. The time the disease was called to the attention of the patient or the physician, the amount of hospital care and the effect of the illness upon unemployment will be recorded. Sanitary conditions in the household will be noted for its possible effect on these diseases. A record of all illnesses, whether chronic or not, and injuries to the accidents existing at the time of the enumerators' visit will be made, as well as those occurring during the past year.

During the last fifty years, medical science has improved the expectancy of life from about 40 years in 1870 to 60 years in 1935. Those who have analyzed this improvement know that the advance has come about by the efforts of modern medicine to control infant mortality and to stamp out infectious diseases. One of the results of this work has been an increase in the mortality from such chronic conditions as heart diseases, high blood pressure, cancer and similar diseases. This is because more people are surviving long enough to become susceptible to diseases associated with the later years of life. Medical science has comparatively accurate figures regarding the causes of death, but statistics are lacking as to the causes and environmental conditions of chronic and disabling illness. The U. S. Health Survey proposes to provide such statistics.

The Health Inventory, now being launched in Crawford, Otsego and Roscommon counties and nearly one hundred communities in 19 states, is the most serious attempt ever made to determine the facts regarding the health conditions of the nation, and the extent to which such sicknesses are suitably cared for in the average American family.

The supervisor for the work done in these three counties is J. D. MacNaughton, who is assisted by H. A. Gardner. They at this time extend their sincere cooperation with all local health authorities, as well as people who are contacted during this survey. Therefore the value of the project is dependent of course upon the extent of return cooperation given the survey investigators and it is to be expected that all those interested in public health will do so in every effort. All information given to enumerators in the course of the survey is strictly confidential, and no names will be used in statistical reports following the survey.

Legion Jottings

Last Thursday evening very few members of the Drum Corps attended practice and Monday evening conditions were not very much better. Now it takes more than a few to make a good drum and bugle corps. What is going to be the result without practice?

Tonight, Thursday evening, all members of the Drum & Bugle Corps are requested to be present at the American Legion hall. Business of great importance is to be taken up at this time. Let's have everyone out.

Womans Club

The Woman's Club was entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Bearsch.

Mrs. Jesse Sales, sec.-vice pres., was in the chair. "The Valiant Wife" by Margaret Wilson, was written by Mrs. Gerald Poor and read by Mrs. Bearsch. Mrs. Beatrice Hoesli read a paper on "Music and Poetry of Washington's Time."

The club will meet next Monday evening with Mrs. Stanley Stealy.

Frederic Rifle Clubs Hold Supper

Last Wednesday evening the men's Twenty-two-Rifle Club celebrated their first month of match shooting at a supper given by the four losing teams. Although the dessert was rather slim there was an abundance of roast beef, mashed potatoes, etc. If any left the hall hungry it was because they were ashamed or too lazy to make the third or fourth trip to the serving table. Many a good laugh was enjoyed at the expense of some of the members as the dish washing gang got into action.

The losing teams put on a first class feed and say they are going to burn more powder and next month will have the fun of eating and watching someone else do the work.

The club with a roll of forty members, have been holding their weekly shoots in a room in the town hall donated by the Frederic Township Board. These shoots are held on Wednesday evening and any man is invited to attend.

Besides the men's club the fifty foot range is used by the boys' club of thirty-eight members and the girls' club of eighteen members. Although some of these young folks have never shot a gun before joining these clubs they are really going to town in the way of marksmanship.

We understand that clubs are getting started in Grayling. Good luck to them as we are looking forward to shoots with their teams. This program is sponsored by the recreational division of the W.P.A.

The church stands to assist all in attaining a religious experience. At the church during Lent, the worship service on Sunday and the devotional meetings on Thursday evenings.

CUBS ENTER ROSCOMMON TOURNAMENT

The Fifth Annual Gold Medal Independent basketball tournament will be held at the Roscommon school gym on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, February 25-26-27. Teams from Bay City, Mt. Pleasant, Cadillac, Traverse City, and other towns nearby will be entered in this tournament. With this array of teams entered this should be a real battle for the trophy, and plenty of fast basketball for the fans to witness.

The Grayling Cubs have entered and will have Cornell, Harrison, Dickie, Marshall, May, Ken and Don Gother, P. Hendrickson, Dawson and Schaefer on hand to participate in this tournament. Local fans should be on hand for these games at Roscommon.

Log Office Says:

DO YOU KNOW???

That Sports Afield for the month of March carried a huge Michigan ad encouraging anglers to head for Michigan when the fishing season opens. That the same magazine used in the Log Office story whose space would have cost, at advertising rates, more than $1800. That an eight page rotogravure section of Michigan pictures in the same publication gave over 14 photo positions to East Michigan. That the story by Ed Dreier is based largely on East Michigan fishing. In other words, do you know that the magazine practically turned over its March number to promoting our recreational resources and the material for most of it came out of the Log Office. . . . ???

WINTER CARNIVALS REACH PEAK IN '36

Never has the State known such prosperity from the influx of visitors during the Winter Carnival season. And never have the towns sponsoring the events received such wholehearted co-operation from all agencies, including the weatherman.

In East Michigan, Grayling, Alpena and Cheboygan ran off with the lion's share of publicity and crowds. Grayling has seen something like a dozen Snow Trains and Alpena saw more than a thousand people pour in from the Saginaw Bay District for its carnival.

The results of such undertakings cannot be accurately estimated, still it is an established fact that a Grayling restaurant whose normal daily business finds about fifty customers, handled 1097 over a Carnival week end. And an Alpena tavern did more than twenty times its normal business the day the Snow Train pulled in. And in that same Thunder Bay, toward the skating bug took every available pair of skates in town, thus affording the Hardwares and Sporting Goods Houses a nice piece of business during an otherwise slack period.

Alpena came out with a great folder to advertise its show and many, many comments have branded it the nicest ad in which a community might invest.

Recognizing, as they have since the days of Joe Dermody who encouraged such undertakings, the importance of Snow Shows, the Log Office will devote three or four pages to Winter Sports in the Blue Book, soon to go to press. An attractive four color illustration will introduce the section.

BLUE BOOK IS NEARLY READY

With the exception of a few pieces of advertising copy yet to come from the communities of the north, the 1936 edition of the East Michigan Blue Book is ready to go to press.

Last year's book was hailed as the greatest published by the organization, but the '36 book is predicted to surpass the last attempt.

Enlarged to 9 x 12 in size and containing 72 or more pages, the book will include a special "Where To Go" department, in which the resort and community advertising will be concentrated. From a set of more than 3000 prints will come the pictures for the book. Many will be used in full page size, in keeping with the original philosophy to tell the story in picture.

Communities and resorts who have yet to send in their advertising copy have only a few days before deadline.

OUTDOOR MAGAZINES CARRYING ADVERTISING

If you're wondering what becomes of the state appropriation and that membership we solicit from you to help match the state funds, pick up most any one of the leading outdoor magazines. You'll find therein, some of the most attractive ads we have carried in a good many years.

Celebrating the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Charles Hanover, a group of her friends met at her home Saturday evening. The merry-makers played cards and danced until the wee sma' hours, after which a pot luck lunch was served. Mrs. Hanover received many lovely gifts.

Celebrating the birthday anniversary of Mrs. G. D. Vallad, a number of ladies met at her home Wednesday afternoon. Games were enjoyed with prizes being won by Mrs. Vallad and Ted McEvers. A pot luck lunch was served and Mrs. Vallad was left many lovely gifts.

All Shoes, Rubbers and Sox at 1/4 to 1/2 off, at Olsons.

Gloria McNeven was hostess to a group of friends at her home Thursday evening. The occasion was a triple birthday party honoring the anniversaries of Natalie Peterson, Dorothy Miller and Jean Brady, and was a surprise. Games were enjoyed and a delicious lunch served. Everything was nicely carried out in Valentine style and Gloria carried off the role of hostess in a charming manner.

Mrs. Harry McEvers entertained eight boys and girls at an evening of games and hilarity Thursday at her home. Games and stunts were enjoyed, with the prizes being won by Stella Muth and Floyd Wylie. A very nice lunch was served and all report an excellent time. Those present included Virginia McEvers, Stella Muth, Bertha Confer, Emma Gierke, Floyd Wylie, Leslie Hunter, Ivan McEvers and Douglas Gierke.

Word received from Detroit yesterday called Mrs. George Olson to the bedside of her husband, at the Leland Hotel. George left Monday for Detroit on business, and was taken ill while a guest at the Hotel.

The Harry Hemmington Post No. 1224, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, were entertained at a banquet, at the Eldorado camp, C.C.C. Co. 1687 Thursday evening. Arthur Wendt, commander of the post and Neil Mathews, attended and report a very fine time. There will be a meeting of the post this Friday evening, at Camp Eldorado. All veterans welcome.

A freeze-up of waterworks are common these days, and cause a lot of trouble. It costs money to let the faucet run continuously but we believe that would be cheaper than having a thaw-out job to do. Besides it would avoid a lot of inconvenience. City Manager C. A. Miller, says a couple of thousand gallons of water a month wasted would cost only about 27c, and that would prevent freezing.

If you think anything of your dog, it is a timely suggestion that the first thing to do is to see that the 1936 tax is paid. The new dog ordinance goes into effect March 2nd, and unlicensed dogs will be the first ones to be impounded. It is a safe prediction that there won't be a dog on out public streets without a license tag after that date. So if you want to protect your dog, don't neglect this important thing. Other regulations relative to dogs running at large are very definite and no doubt they too will be rigidly enforced. The new dog ordinance was published in full in the Avalanche in our issue of February 13th.

An important Institute on Religion and Social Reconstruction will be held in Detroit, Wednesday, Feb. 26th to Friday, Feb. 28th, sponsored by Dr. Frederick B. Fisher through the Free Church Fellowship and the Social Justice Committee of Central Church. A group of eminent speakers, including Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Dr. John Haynes Holmes, Bishop Edgar Blake, Dr. Julius Hecker, will be present. Among the subjects discussed will be communism, fascism, nazism and state socialism and their relation to religion and the church and synagogue. Registration fee is $2. Those who wish to go will please contact Rev. Edgar Flory.

The Cheboygan Observer said the following in its last issue: A news story appeared in the last issue of the Crawford Avalanche, Grayling, telling of the appointment of Charles E. Moore as judge of probate that is of general interest to Observer readers, because most of them will remember the splendid young character that it tells about, a former Cheboygan young man, a young man that has always measured up with the better class of young fellows that have come from our city and community and the kind of young chap that we like to point to as an example for other young people. It does not seem so very long ago when Charley Moore was a neighbor boy attending our public school. His class mates, and some splendid characters came out of that class, will remember him as an active leader, and they will rejoice in every good word that comes about him.

"OUR GANG" ENJOY VALENTINE PARTY

"Our Gang" was nicely entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Archie Brown. 16 members responded to roll call. In commemoration of Lincoln's birthday, readings were given by Mrs. Dewey Palmer, Mrs. Earl Broadbent and Mrs. Barton Wakeley. A Valentine contest to see who could pin a small heart nearest the center of a large heart placed on the wall was won by Mrs. Edna McEvers who pinned the heart directly in the center. Mrs. Andrew Beck received the consolation. Prizes were given for the best made Valentine and for the funniest. Mrs. Archie Brown received the first prize and Mrs. John Stephan received the prize for the funniest. There were some very clever Valentines and it was a hard matter for the judges to decide which were the best. Other games were enjoyed with prizes going to Mrs. Elgin Benware, Mrs. Hurl Deckrow, Mrs. Laura Parker, Mrs. Edna McEvers and Mrs. John Stephan. Mrs. Ben Pankow was given the Penny prize.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Elgin Benware, February 27.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Albert Knibbs, Mrs. John Charlier, Mrs. Ben Pankow and Mrs. Brown.

T. SanCartier is driving a fine new 1936 Standard Ford Sedan, purchased at Burke's garage. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Broadbent enjoyed a visit last week from Elwood Giffin, of Bay City. Calvin McEvers accompanied his brother, Roy McEvers, to Rogers City, Friday, on business. Byron Randolph spent Sunday at Bay City visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barber.

Albert Schrieber, who was employed at Flint for some time, is home again and working at Schoonover's garage. Miss Mary Harrison accompanied the snow train to Detroit, Sunday, and spent several days visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Lois Parker has secured employment in the Health Department office located in the Courthouse.

Miss Irene Randolph drove to Saginaw Sunday morning and accompanied home Stanley Stephan who spent the day here.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Ingram enjoyed a week end visit from Mrs. Ingram's mother, Mrs. Mary Rohl, and brother, Peter Rohl, of Rose City.

Mrs. Joseph Pentrack, of Detroit, came on the snow train Sunday and visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaMotte, and also at the Winter Sports park.

Miss Doris Goshorn, who is employed at Detroit, came on the snow train Sunday and visited relatives and enjoyed the winter sports park.

Bob King, of Camp Higgins Co. 672, was dismissed Thursday from Mercy Hospital and is convalescing at the camp hospital. He was ill with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lazorch enjoyed a visit Friday and Saturday from Charles and Claud Nash, of Chicago, and Fred Brown, all of Saginaw. The latter is a former Grayling resident.

Personals

Sammy Gust says to be sure and tell our public of the evening raid on the Redson & Cooley Gift Shop. According to Sam—two very bold young scoundrels entered the place of business one evening last week just shortly after the rays of the wintry sun had been replaced by a curtain of darkness. Wearing dark clothing and masks, he says they went through the place just as though they had studied the layout and knew just where to find everything. Quoting Sam, "Everything was done entirely under cover and with the object of getting away with as much dirt as possible."

However, believing the story just a little bit, I got around to technical points and discovered that the thing is more or less a frame-up. It seems that Sam was ordered to do a good cleaning job on the stovepipe and either because he was ashamed of his task, or because he preferred to handle the thing in just his own way, he inveigled the aid of a friend—did the job under cover of darkness and built up a good bedtime story for our readers. Thanks, Sam!

Among the Clerks

(By J. Wellington Bumsted)

Once again the laugh is on old Wellington. It has been discovered that a certain young couple, formerly in line for many good-natured gibes in this column have had the advantage of "having the laugh" on us for quite some time. This popular young couple put it over on the general public—cloped to some far-away city—and said "I do." It is reported that this took place some time in September and, in spite of the most strenuous sleuthing still failed to bring light on the matter. So, now all we can do is wish them belated congratulations. Perhaps some of you are still just a little in the dark—if so just ask either Mr. or Mrs. Arthur Pankow (Lavina Road) and we feel sure you will get it straight.

It begins to look as though a certain young mailman from a neighboring county has succeeded in captivating the heart of one of our most-distinguished clerks. Either that or vice-versa. Anyway—they are seen together with great regularity, so we can do nothing but await developments.

The Hanson Cafe boasts of the services of a new clerk who goes by the unusual name of "Useless." An adoption of the esteemed Fred Bishaw. This young charge of Freddy's is much too good a waiter for such a term and is only until you see the indulgent "Bishaw grin" that you realize that the term is one of those so-called pet names which might mean anything—such as "Ducky," "Toodums," and the more common one—"Shookums." Fred is covering ground rapidly and will probably have a suitable name for the other workers in the very near future. It is rumored that this famous cook is already commonly known as "Biddle" Bishaw!

There is a petition about to be circulated asking that moneys be taken from the general fund for the purchasing of a crystal-gazing apparatus for one of our clerks—Marian Reynolds. Said clerk has demonstrated with exhibitions of supernatural genius, hypnotic and magnetic train of thought. She has already tried out her powers on her youthful colleague—and with gratifying results. It is believed that a crystal would be all that is necessary to furnish our city with a Prince Ali Benzo of it's own making—which would probably add much to the city as a drawing card. I might add that this clerk will be greatly peeved if we do not put this thing across with a bang and will probably pull the J. Wellington locks.

About 24 ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. A. M. Lewis Friday afternoon February 14, in response to this unique invitation. It was truly a heart party for hearts were in evidence everywhere. The hearts and even the refreshments were carried out in heart shapes. The ladies played hearts to their heart's content and when they finished their hostess said they would find the prize ticket in the bottom of their chair. Mrs. Chas. Tromble sat in the lucky chair and Mrs. O. P. Schumann found the ticket for the consolation prize. The party was one of the prettiest arranged affairs of the season.

Last Thursday afternoon a merry sleigh ride party consisting of the members of the H. & H. W. club, with Miss Antons as chaperone, left Grayling for a nine mile drive to the home of Mr. Mortenson. Though a cold wind did not make the trip so agreeable, and the rather crowded condition of the sleigh made it a walking expedition for a couple of boys, all arrived at the end of their journey in high spirits.

RESPONSIBLE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I DO not think that I could drink a part

Instead of play it, making drink my art.

Nor think that I, my very soul undressed,

Could make a woman's virtue but a jest.

I do not think that I could do these things,

No matter what the recompense it brings.

And not look farther than my weekly pay.

A little farther than my ease today.

A thousand theaters I would behold,

Would see them now, and see them when I'm old,

Where youths and maidens sit in semi-dark.

On whom each word and gesture leave a mark.

If I were showing little children's eyes

To drink is clever and to sin is wise.

Then I would wish to seek some secret place,

Ashamed to look all children in the face.

I do not think that I could speak a line

To some one's child I would not speak to mine.

Nor speak to age, however gray and sere,

A line not fit for anyone to hear.

For they who play with hearts upon the stage,

Or mold the mind upon the printed page,

Cannot, whatever their excuse may be,

Escape their great responsibility.

Rebuke for Explorer

Matthew Flinders (1774-1814), English sea explorer, circumnavigated Australia and secured it for Britain just as the French were about to annex it. His reward consisted only in being censured by the government for having been absent so long, and told he had lost his chance of promotion. Flinders died of a broken heart, and nothing was done for his wife and child until the government of Australia came into existence.

Irrigation Nothing New;

Evidence of Use Ages Ago

Irrigation is nothing new. In the southwestern United States there are evidences of a race of people before the Mexicans, who used irrigation. Their ditches, evidence of which is still to be found, were built on the same lines that the engineers of today would use. Then in the days of the Gold Rush to California in '49, water from the streams was used to wash gold and later to irrigate gardens. The Mormons went out about that time to Utah and diverted some of the streams down the furrows of their fields. The gold seekers also carried the idea with them as they returned from California, but most credit for irrigation is given to the Mormons.

In the early days irrigation to provide moisture for hay meadows was as important as water for humans and animals. Alfalfa is intimately related to irrigation everywhere. The Monks brought this plant from Spain in the early days. The history of the small irrigation projects is that they usually paid, but the large ones went through a lot of grief. In the nature of things, the large water projects defeated their own purpose till population caught up. Small projects to irrigate gardens and meadows to supply produce and hay for the requirements of the miners and settlers were valuable. The large schemes oversupplied the market and became a glut on the market.—Montreal Herald.

Ship Time Kept by Half

Hours; Navy Uses Watch

Ship time is kept by half hours, a custom said to have started when time was measured with a half-hour glass, observes a writer in the Indianapolis News. A bell was struck every time the glass was turned. The system is kept up largely as a matter of tradition, but some large passenger ships operate service affecting passengers by the usual time system employed on land.

The American navy system divides the day into six watches of four hours each. The first watch is from 8 p. m. to midnight, the midwatch is from midnight to 4 a. m., the morning watch is from 4 a. m. to 8 a. m., the forenoon watch is from 8 a. m. to 12 noon, the afternoon watch is from noon to 4 p. m., and the dog watch is from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m. The dog watch is split into two two-hour watches, but the others run the full four hours. The name dog applied to one watch is said to have come from a mechanical device known as a dog, which reverses machinery. By splitting this watch, the time of the men on each watch is changed, and the port and starboard watches are reversed, which relieves the monotony of standing the same watch at the same time every day. One bell is one-half hour after the watch begins as 12:30, 4:30, etc. The next count is two bells thirty minutes later. Thus eight bells always marks the end of the watch. Some variations of the system are found in the merchant system.

Laws Long Outgrown

Many strange and useless state laws are still in force. For instance, Virginia has one designating any citizen who misses church three Sundays in a row is "a public enemy" and as such may be put to death. In North Carolina it is illegal for anyone at a religious service to sing out of tune and he may be fined for this offense. Minnesota has a statute which requires the driver of a motor car to stop if a person driving or leading a horse on the highway raises his hand as a signal if the horse is skittish about cars. In Michigan, no husband may legally kiss his wife nor a wife her husband on the Sabbath day. In West Virginia it is still a misdemeanor for anyone to sneeze in a church service. Maine once had a law making it an offense to whistle on Sunday. In Arkansas it is unlawful to play cards or fly kites on the Sabbath.—Capper's Weekly.

Hudson Discovered New York

The territory now known as New York was discovered in 1609 by Henry Hudson, the famous English navigator (whose name is commemorated by Hudson bay and Hudson river), while he was employed by the Dutch East India company. The Dutch built a city there and named it New Amsterdam. During the war of 1664, however, the Dutch lost the territory to the English. King Charles II gave the territory to his brother, the duke of York, in whose honor the name was changed from New Amsterdam to New York.

Islands Inaccurately Mapped

History records the disappearance of many islands, but most of them were only inaccurately mapped. A classic example, due to the difficulty of polar observation, writes R. A. Young, New York city, in Collier's Weekly, is Glee land in the Arctic ocean, which was discovered in 1707, rediscovered in 1876, and explored in 1898. In 1927 a fourth ship sailed to the spot and could not find the island. The other three had made identical errors in reporting its location.

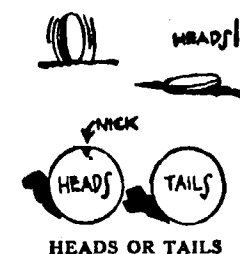

Luxury in Ethiopia

Water is scarce in Ethiopia during the dry season, but generals and other commanding officers of the invading Italians must have their baths. In one camp was seen the shower here illustrated. No towels are in sight, but probably none are needed under the blazing sun.

TRY THIS TRICK

By PONJAY HARRAH
Copyright by Public Ledger, Inc.

HEADS OR TAILS

THIS puzzling experiment has the merit of proving more intriguing the more often it is repeated, for it perplexes those persons who think they can solve it if you do it again.

You let some one spin a coin on the table. Your back is turned while the coin is spinning. As soon as it stops twirling, you announce whether the coin lies heads or tails. Your guess is right.

A lucky guess? Not at all, for each time the trick is repeated you tell the result correctly. That is why it grows more and more bewildering.

You must use your own coin for the trick. Make a nick with a knife in the edge of the coin, on the head side. Listen carefully every time some one spins the coin. If the coin rattles to a slow easy stop, heads will be up. If it stops with an abrupt click you know that tails is the answer.

Protecting Florida Coast Fish

THE Miami Chamber of Commerce evidently does not want any tricks played on the fish in Florida waters, inasmuch as it has provided a checking service for the false teeth of fishermen. It all started when a fisherman found a set of teeth in a red snapper he caught, and received claims from a score of alleged owners.

Comes Nearest to Being a Bird-Man

CLEM SOHN, the nearest thing to a man-bird this earth yet has seen, leaped from a plane at 10,000 feet during the annual air maneuvers in Miami, and soared like a bird for 10 minutes, describing his flight with a trail of flour released from a bag in his uniform. At 1,000 feet above ground he released a parachute to complete his descent.

"Little Stories for Bedtime"

by Thornton W. Burgess

THE HUNTING SEASON ENDS

THE very worst things come to an end at last. No matter how bad a thing is, it cannot last forever. So it was with the hunting season for Lightfoot the Deer. There came a day when the law once more protected all deer, a day when the hunters could no longer go searching for Lightfoot.

Usually there was great rejoicing among the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows when the hunting season ended and they knew that Lightfoot

"I tell you what it is," said Sammy Jay to Bobby Coon, "something has happened to Lightfoot."

would be in no more danger until the next hunting season. But this year there was no rejoicing. You see, no one could find Lightfoot. The last seen of him was when he was running for his life with two hounds baying on his trail and the Green Forest filled with hunters watching for a chance to shoot him.

Sammy Jay had hunted everywhere through the Green Forest. Blacky the Crow, whose eyes are quite as sharp as those of Sammy Jay, had joined in the search. They had found no trace of Lightfoot. Paddy the Beaver said that for three days Lightfoot had not visited his pond for a drink. Billy Mink, who travels up and down the Laughing Brook, had looked for Lightfoot's footprints in the soft earth along the banks and had found only old ones. Jumper the Hare had visited Lightfoot's favorite eating places at night, but Lightfoot had not been in any of them.

"I tell you what it is," said Sammy Jay to Bobby Coon, "something has happened to Lightfoot. Either those hounds caught him and killed him or he was shot by one of those hunters. The Green Forest will never be the same without him. I don't think I shall want to come over here very much. There isn't one of all the other people who live in the Green Forest who would be missed as Lightfoot will be."

Bobby Coon nodded. "That's true, Sammy," said he. "Without Lightfoot the Green Forest will never be the same. He never harmed anybody. Why those hunters should have been so anxious to kill one so beautiful is something I cannot understand. For that matter, I don't understand why they want to kill any of us. If they really needed us for food it would be a different matter, but they don't. Have you been up in the Old Pasture and asked Old Man Coyote if he has seen anything of Lightfoot?"

Sammy nodded. "I've been up there twice," said he. "Old Man Coyote has been lying very low during the days, but nights he has done a lot of traveling. You know, Old Man Coyote has a mighty good nose, but not once since the day those hounds chased Lightfoot has he found so much as a tiny whiff of Lightfoot's scent. I thought he might have found the place where Lightfoot was killed, but he hasn't, although he has looked for it. Well, the hunting season for Lightfoot is over, but I am afraid it has ended too late."

ROLY POLY GOLF BALL

THIS is a dinner table trick that will startle all who witness it. The feat is performed with an ordinary golf ball, which the magician places on the table.

Making mysterious passes, he causes the ball to roll along the tablecloth, traveling in a most uncanny fashion. Anyone may lift the ball and examine it.

The motive power is furnished by a strong thread that runs beneath the tablecloth. On the end of the thread is a small metal ring, which the magician holds in his hand. It is upon this hidden ring that the wizard places the golf ball.

While his right hand makes its mystic passes, the magician uses his left to draw the thread, which makes the ball roll in a most natural fashion. The trick is made most effective by having a confederate pull the thread from the opposite side of the table. In this case the ball will roll away from the magician.

Had Had Enough

Little Eric went to a wedding and was given a seat near a fond aunt at the breakfast.

"Well," said the dear old thing, "and what kind of wedding will you have when you grow up, Eric?"

"I'm never going to get married," he said, with an air of defiance.

"But why not, dear?" she asked. The boy looked across at his parents and made a grimace.

"Well, for one thing, I've lived too long with married people already," he replied.—Stray Stories Magazine.

London Bridge Situated at Head of Navigation

London bridge is the first or farthest down of the bridges across the Thames at London. It is situated at the head of navigation, about a half mile above the Tower of London.

But the present London bridge is not the one celebrated in the nursery song, nor in the proverb to the effect that "London bridge was made for wise men to pass over and fools to pass under." That famous old bridge, which stood for more than 600 years, was finally demolished more than a century ago.

The site has probably been the location of a bridge from very early times in London's history, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. But the earliest bridge in this location is not mentioned until the eleventh century. It was a wooden structure which was destroyed by a storm and high tide November 16, 1091.

The first stone bridge, the famous bridge spoken of above, was built between 1176 and 1209 on a wooden foundation. It consisted of 20 arches. The roadway was 926 feet long, 60 feet above the water and 40 feet wide. Houses were built upon the bridge, and in the course of time it became a continuous street with three openings on each side of the river.

The buildings on the bridge were repeatedly devastated by fire, most notably in the great fire of 1666. The eleventh span from the Southward end formed a drawbridge flanked by a tower built in 1426, and on top of which were stuck the heads of persons executed for treason. All the superstructures were removed in 1757. In 1832 the old bridge itself was torn down, the new London bridge having been opened the year before.

Llamas Stubborn Beasts, as Queer as They Look

Llamas are as odd as they look. They are temperamental and, some people insist, even stupid. They are faithful and yet stubborn when used as beasts of burden. And they are among the oldest beasts of burden on this continent, notes a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

When the Spanish conquered Peru they found llamas in great numbers being used as domestic animals by the Incas. Even today they are very commonly used to carry loads of over a hundred pounds in the Cordilleras, where they seem not to mind the cold and where they nibble their meager living from the scant mountain herbage.

Perhaps it is his own good judgment which urges a llama to balk at climbing a glacier path and to refuse a rough and difficult trail. But the llama is sure-footed and strong and his masters suspect that he could safely take as difficult a trail as any other creature, for he is at home on mountain sides. Until 1850 llamas were the only animals employed by men as means of transportation in this South American region.

Every part of the animal has some value. The females are kept for their milk. The meat is similar to mutton and is a common food. The skin is made into leather and the coarse hair is used by the Peruvian Indians for weaving into fabrics.

Baron von Steuben

Frederick William Augustus Henry Ferdinand, Baron von Steuben, was a Prussian officer on the staff of Frederick the Great, who came to America late in 1777 and offered his services to the Continental congress as a volunteer of honor. General Washington at once appreciated the worth of such a trained soldier and made him inspector general at Valley Forge. In spite of the hardships under which the army lived that winter Von Steuben changed them from a mob into well drilled troops. As a reward congress gave him the rank of major general and inspector general of the entire army. Upon retirement he was given a grant of land at what is now Steubenville, N. Y., where he lived until his death in 1794.

Astec Images Like Egyptian

When Cortez and his band of Spanish conquerors came to Mexico early in the sixteenth century they met with stout resistance from the Aztecs, highly civilized Indians. As the Spaniards despoiled the Aztec temples, pressing the natives into slavery, they discovered many carvings of images and friezes, indicating the existence of a well-organized religion. From a study of the idols and the decorations on the walls of the temples archeologists have noted Babylonian similarities. The Aztec religion was one of many gods, being in that respect like the pagan belief of ancient Greece and Rome.

Islands of Fiji Archipelago

There are 250 islands in the Fiji archipelago, the most important of the Polynesian group, the principal one being Viti Levu, which is 98 miles long and nearly 70 miles across. All the larger islands of the group are volcanic, with hills or mountains rising to a height of from 3,000 to 4,000 feet, rich in the most luxuriant tropical vegetation, and with rivers everywhere.

A LARGE-SIZED GRIEF

A traveling circus had arrived at a small village and the local gossip carrier hastened out to look things over. He found three circus hands sitting in dejected silence.

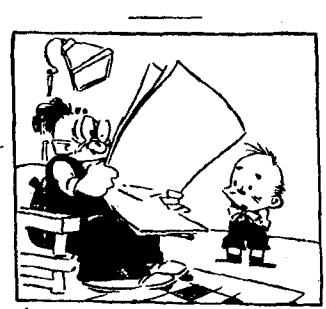

"What's wrong?" asked the villager.

"The elephant is dead" was the reply.

"I'm sorry. But I'm glad to see you men thought so much of a dumb animal" the villager continued.

"It ain't that," retorted one of the three. You see we chaps has got to dig a hole to bury him."—Santa Fe Magazine.

NOT EVEN THAT

"Pa, what is an echo?" "An echo my son is the only thing that can cheat a woman out of the last word."

Efficiency

"Aha" said the chief clerk "I'm glad to notice that you are arriving punctually now."

"Yes sir. I bought a parrot."

"A parrot? What on earth for?"

"I told you to get an alarm clock."

"Yes; I did. But after a day or two I got used to it and it didn't wake me. So I got a parrot. And now when I go to bed I fix the alarm clock and put the parrot cage on top of it. What the bird says when the alarm goes off would wake up anyone."

If Thrown Properly

The new maid was full of her own importance. She had worked on the continent and felt superior to the other servants.

One day she was telling "below stairs" some of her experiences. "How do the foreign dishes compare to English ones?" asked one of her audience.

"Oh," replied the maid airily, "they break just the same."—Answers Magazine.

Influence

"Now, that's what I call real influence," remarked Senator Sorghum, placidly.

"To what do you refer?"

"I've managed to get a man who has plugged away for years at a government position; a remunerative job in private life."

Like Pulling Teeth

"He's so obstinate."

"In what way?"

"It's the hardest thing in the world to convince him I'm always right."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

NOT STUCK UP

"A paperhanger is never worried about his business."

"Why not?"

"Because he is never afraid when it goes to the wall."

"I apologize," said one diplomat.

"But you have given no offense," said the other.

"I know there is no present reason for my apologizing. But I wish to be on record with an expression of willingness to do so on the slightest provocation."

So Convenient

"Oh, I'm so glad you have a brown cow, Uncle John," effused the young girl from the city, looking over the stock.

"Why so, my dear?" asked Uncle John.

"Because now I won't have to do without my chocolate milk while I'm visiting here."—Capper's Weekly.

Saving

"You still think a citizen ought to save money?"

"Yes," said Senator Sorghum. "But if he happens to be a lobbyist, he shouldn't try to salvage too much in a lump."

He Should Know

Judge—You mean to tell me you committed all those robberies alone? Why didn't you have a partner?

Prisoner—Well, I'll tell you, judge; I wasn't sure he'd be honest!

Those Dear Girls

Margaret—He sure is light on his feet.

Stella—Yes, he's evenly balanced. He's also light in his head.—Kansas City Star.

GOOD MATERIAL

Fish—Say, Crabby, why don't you go on the police force?

Crab—Why?

Fish—Well, you're always pinching things.

For Mother

Little sister and little brother were engaged in a heated quarrel.

"I wish you'd go away and never come back!" said brother.

"Very well," spoke up grandmother quietly. "Put on your coat, sister, and go on outside."

Brother was silent for a moment. Then he said:

"Well, I guess we'd better save her for mother. She likes her."—Indianapolis News.

Microbes With Ears

The doctor surveyed his patient with a critical eye.

"H'm," he muttered, "you confess that you are bad-tempered, eh? I suppose I need not tell you that science has discovered that a bad temper is caused by an ugly little microbe."

The patient gasped.

"Ssh!" he exclaimed. "For heaven's sake, speak quietly, doctor. She's sitting in the next room."—Stray Stories Magazine.

Forbidden

The hotel clerk was astonished to see a guest parading through the lobby clad only in a pair of pajamas.

Clerk—Here, what are you doing? Guest (awakening)—Beg pardon, I'm a somnambulist.

Clerk—Well, you can't walk around here like that, no matter what your religion is.

STEAM UP!

"Do you have any trouble with your steam furnace?"

"Nothing, except getting coal for it."

A Delicate Hint

He—I hope my visits are not disagreeable to you.

She (politely)—Not at all.

He—I have sometimes thought that I worried you.

She—Oh, no. No matter how gloomy I feel when you call, I am always happy when you go.

Frank Egotism

"Some of your economic calculations are very abstruse."

"I find them so," answered Senator Sorghum, "when I study them from time to time. I remind myself of Einstein. I may not be as smart as he is, but at least I'm as hard to understand."

The Dangerous Spot

Billy—I fell out of bed last night.

Mother—Poor little fellow! You must have slept too near where you got in.

Billy—Not at all, Mother. I slept too close to where I fell out.

Pa Knew From Experience

"What is a margin, pa?"

"A margin, my boy, is much the same as verge. When you buy stocks on margin you are on the verge of losing your money."

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of and under the seal of the Circuit Court for the County of Crawford and State of Michigan, to me directed and delivered, in favor of Grayling Box Company, against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of Mrs. A. R. Welch, (Mary E. Welch), I did, on the 21st day of January A. D. 1936, levy upon and take all the right, title and interest of said Mrs. A. R. Welch (Mary E. Welch) in and to the following described real estate, situated in the County of Crawford and State of Michigan, to wit: All that certain piece and parcel of land situated in the Township of Grayling, County of Crawford, and State of Michigan, known and described as Lot one of Shaws Park, according to the recorded plat thereof.

All of which I shall expose for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, as the law directs, at the front door of the Courthouse in the City of Grayling (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said County of Crawford State of Michigan, is held) on Saturday the seventh day of March A. D. 1936 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

Frank Bennett, Sheriff.

Marie F. Nellist, Attorney for Plaintiff.

Dated January 21, 1936. 1-23-4

TO THE OWNER OR OWNERS OF ANY AND ALL INTERESTS IN, OR LANDS UPON THE LANDS HEREIN DESCRIBED.

Take notice, that sale has been lawfully made of the following described land for unpaid taxes thereon, and that the undersigned has title thereto under tax deed or deeds issued therefor, and that you are entitled to a reconveyance thereof, at any time within six months after return of service of this notice, upon payment to the undersigned or to the Register in Chancery of the County in which the lands lie, of all sums paid upon such purchase, together with any per centum additional thereon, and the fees of the Sheriff for the service or cost of publication of this notice, to be computed as upon personal service of a declaration as commencement of suit, and the further sum of five dollars for each description, without other additional cost or charges. If payment as aforesaid is not made, the undersigned will institute proceedings for possession of the land.

Description of Land.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Crawford.

Northeast fractional quarter Section six, containing one hundred seventy-four and fifty-three hundredths acres more or less, town twenty-five north, Range two west.

Amount paid $18.67 taxes for 1927. Amount necessary to redeem $42.34 plus the fees of the Sheriff.

Signed, Marsh & Soderholm, Place of business, Roscommon, Mich.

To Wm. Weis (owner), last grantee in the regular chain of title of such lands or of any interest therein as appearing by the records in the office of the Register or Deeds of said county.

1-30-4

CAMP HIGGINS LAKE

L. B. Merritt, educational adviser, received notice last week that in addition to his duties with this organization, he will serve Camp Eldorado in a similar capacity, following the release of Mr. Anderson at the latter camp. While the rigid quarantine at Higgins Lake has been in effect classes are practically at a standstill and educational space is used as auxiliary hospital quarters. The adviser will spend alternate weeks at his two camps.

Andrew Braidwood, new camp superintendent, who came here from Camp Ausable to replace M. S. Gerrard, is now getting familiar with the Higgins Lake setting. Mr. Gerrard will return to land economic survey work with the Department of Conservation, work he did before the organization of Emergency Conservation Work.

For several days crews were held in from the work projects to get illness under control, as rollees being instructed to stay on their own bunks. The only work done was to clear the camp area of snow and put the barracks in good order. After one week of staying in camp and holding a bunk down, they greeted the work call with a big smile.

Camp Higgins Lake's model post exchange, planned by Lt. Cropp and Capt. Murphy, and constructed principally by James Goudie, is now opened for business, and it is believed one will need to look far to find a more attractive camp store in the organization.

Frederick Behl, Cadillac enrollee who has been seriously ill in Mercy hospital at Grayling for some time, has made a considerable improvement since the latter part of last week.

Chaplain J. L. Connolly was unable to make the camps of this subdistrict last week for his services because of influenza, which confined him for several days to Mercy Hospital. Lieut. J. D. Hartley also spent several days at his home in Grayling for the same illness.

A number of enrollees have filled out application blanks to take the coming civil service examinations for junior assistant to technician for emergency conservation workers.

On April 18, 1933, less than three weeks after Congress approved the program of President Roosevelt for emergency conservation work, the first CCC camp was established on the George Washington National Forest near Luray, Virginia.

Major C. E. Howard, Capt. G. E. Murphy, and Adviser L. B. Merritt of this camp attended a meeting at Camp Eldorado last Thursday for the personnel of the Huron National Forest. A banquet, business session, and moving pictures were features.

CAMP AUSABLE

Mr. A. T. Washburn, Assistant Attorney General for the State, gave a lecture on Conservation to the entire company Thursday, February 13. He explained the entire set-up of the Department of Conservation and the duties performed by each division. Mr. Washburn has charge of legal matters dealing with State owned land and stream control. He told many interesting items about the department. Mr. Washburn told the enrollees the Department of Conservation considered the work of the Civilian Conservation Corps in this state to be of great value.

Truck drivers, Fred A. Jones and Orval Koole accompanied by Don Wolfe, ferried two Army trucks to Camp Custer last week. The trucks were from Hartwick Pines.

Dr. J. F. Cook gave a lecture last week at camp. His subject was dental hygiene.

The class in general forestry has finished its special course and has begun a special course in dendrology or tree identification. The course will be taught by Mr. John Thole of the technical service. The first work to be taken up will be the identification of evergreen trees. This class plans to gather specimens of cones, needles and bark and make a display of native evergreens.

The renovation of the mess hall has been completed in a short time by the kitchen personnel. The walls have been finished with a dark stain on plywood covered with a varnish. The ceiling has been painted a light buff and paneled. Curtains have been hung at all the windows, giving it a light and cheery atmosphere.

Who leads the Republican Party today? If the nomination were to be held now, how would Vandenberg stack up against Borah, Landon and Hoover? For the answer, read "America Speaks," the nation-wide poll in Sunday's Detroit News.

Hi Ho's View of Power

"To exercise power," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "needs human study. It is useless to tell men what they must do before learning what they can do."

SCHOOL NEWS

A new project has been started in the school this year; four classes in Handicraft are being taught. The high school group are making book-ends and flower baskets, and the grade groups are working on clothespin furniture. A class in short-wave radio is to be started with the high school boys. Mr. A. G. Clough is in charge of these classes.

The attendance of school this year has been very good, with an average of 90% attending regularly. This is an excellent average in accordance with other schools in this district.

A school nurse, Mrs. Gorman, is now being employed by the School Board. She visits all the home rooms every morning to check on the health of each child. She will also visit the homes of those absent.

Seniors To Choose Play
The Senior Play committee made up of Blanche Wheeler, Leo Lovely, Dorothy Schweitzer, Ransom Murphy, and Helen May, is busy scanning over play books for a suitable play which will be given in April.

Cecil Roberts will be the play director. Last year their play "Girl Shy" was a big success. We are sure they will do as well this year.

Seniors To Have Pictures Taken.
This Thursday the Seniors are to have their pictures taken.

Juniors Set Date For Prom.
The Juniors have chosen May 29th for the date of their J. Hop. Committees for the Prom are being chosen and orchestra bids are being considered.

Pep Club Witnessed Game At Roscommon
Again the Pep club, in true school spirit, followed the team to Roscommon where they saw the Green & White take their 14th victory.

Home Economics Teacher Attends Meeting in Lansing
Miss Tumath attended a meeting in Lansing last Friday, for all vocational Home Economics teachers. Miss Freegard, State supervisor, was in charge of the meeting.

Related Arts
The girls are now doing crayon work on cloth.

8th Grade Home Economics
The 8th Grade Home Economics class have started their sewing unit and will start sewing immediately.

Sport Stunts
It is the general opinion in school and around town that the Gaylord boys will be here for the journey with their colors flying. Let em fly. It would certainly be too bad if the local's could get one more chance at Coach Baker's squad before they graduate. We are glad to see that the Gaylord boys are coming back to the Grayling tournament this year. Our team has played several games with the Lake City team in the past and a very friendly relation exists between the schools. McBain is reported as having a good Class C team this year. Welcome back to our show, McBain. By the looks of the Class D entrants in the District meet there will probably be games both Thursday and Friday afternoons and all three evenings. Competition should be keen in the lower bracket as all the schools have impressive seasons. Records, especially Frederic, Roscommon, and Houghton Lake. We wish West Branch high and St. Joe high the best of luck at Sterling. It will seem strange not to see their teams in action here as they have been in our journey for so many years. The "Big bad snow" would have to keep East Jordan from playing their game here. Everyone was looking forward to that game with great anticipation. They ran neck and neck with the locals so long in the Northern C Conference that this game was looked upon as one of the main games of the season. Just watch our basket-tossers flash in their new shirts and pants. The shirts are green with one large white stripe and one small one. There is a number on the front and back. The pants also are green with a white stripe down each side. The new suits will probably make their first appearance in Friday night's game with West Branch. This will be Grayling's last game of the season and all that lies between five of our first string regulars and no more high school basketball forever is the tournament. Lovely, Borchers, Smock, Brady, and G. Hanson close their high school basketball careers this season. Among those to be called upon to carry on for good old G.H.S. next year will be: Chalker, B. Hanson, Jorgenson, Charron, Bowen, Coutts, and other promising young men. We shouldn't have such a bad team, at that. Mr. Cornell was in Boyne City one day last week arranging a baseball schedule for G.H.S. Won't it seem good to have a baseball team to cheer again. We should have a pretty good one too.

Thanks To Miss Tumath
For some reason the bottom part (trousers) of our new uniforms didn't fit just right and we want to thank Miss Tumath and the Home Ec. girls for making the necessary alterations on them. It was a long, hard job and the work was that of first class tailors.

Tourney News
Four Class C teams have shown their intention of entering the District basketball tournament by filing their entry blanks. They are: Gaylord, Mancelona, Lake City, and Grayling.

As yet only two Class D teams have filed entry blanks. The teams have until Friday, Feb. 21, to register and so far only Fredric and Houghton Lake have made any move at it. It is expected that the rest of the entries will flock in here Thursday and Friday.

FREDERIC SCHOOL
Frederic Wins Quint D League Championship
Frederic defeated Wolverine high school Friday evening, Feb. 14 by the one-sided score of 28 to 7. This victory gave Frederic the Northern Quint D League championship. As the winners, the school officials will be presented with a very beautiful trophy when the members of the league meet on Feb. 28. This trophy will be in turn presented to the school. The school as well as the community are proud of the occasion as well they should be as it is the first championship as well as the first trophy Frederic High School has won.

The Frederic second team was defeated 20-7. They were all very sorry because the Wolverine team was coached by Mrs. Holloway, who formerly taught in Frederic, did not come for a return game. We think the girls should be commended on their fine record this season. They have played six games, winning five games and losing only one. The one they lost was a hard fought battle at Houghtonburg which ended 21-23.

The Seniors of '36 are going to have their pictures taken today, February 20th. The picture company guarantees to make them wonderful to look at. But after looking at some of their faces, I wonder.

School attendance has increased this week because the roads have all been opened up now so the school bus could get to all the families. It certainly seems good to have all the classes full.

Things seem to have been pretty hot for Clair Melroy in Frederic last week because, to change the atmosphere, he spent the week end with Clyde Lozon.

The Frederic basketball team is planning on displaying their colors at the Grayling tournament when it opens March 5. We are anticipating a fine spirit of cooperation from the townspeople as well as the student body, judged by the cooperation we have enjoyed during the regular season.

Valentine day was a day of activity for nearly the entire school. The Girls 4-H Sewing club entertained the Boys 4-H handcraft club at a very delightful Valentine party, followed by a fine lunch. Both Mrs. Smith's and Mrs. Long's rooms held parties for their children and all had a merry time with plenty of valentines.

We are all wondering why Clair Melroy insists on visiting Long's restaurant. We know it isn't for Bromo seltzer.

The song "The Music Goes Round and Round" does not work at all so well with one of the senior boys. He stuck his fingers in the fan of a car and is now wearing a badge to show his lack of being awake.

Last Friday, being Valentine's day, Louise Stillwagon received a valentine through the mail. On perusing it he found a pig tail. Evidently someone thought he needed it. How about it, Louise? Elhara Barber is news reporter for next week.

CAUCUS NOTICE
Frederic Township

There will be a caucus of the People's Party at the Town hall, Frederic, Tuesday, Feb. 25th, at 8:00 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the usual Township offices, and transact such other business as may come before the caucus. People's Party Committee.

YOUNG FOLKS ENJOY CCC PARTY

A crowd of young people took advantage of the "free transportation" offer, last Friday evening, and attended the CCC dance at Camp Kalkaska. The boys drove over with one of the company trucks to pick up the merry-makers and the trip over was made in record time. There were about two dozen attending from here and the truck loads from Mancelona and Kalkaska made up a nice crowd. The company mess hall had been turned into a very festive dance hall with all decorations very nicely carried out in Valentine style. Late in the evening sandwiches and coffee were served, first to the guests and then to the enrollees. The cooks seem to have a method of making plain, wholesome sandwiches taste very special—and can those boys make coffee!

After a little more dancing to the music of Eddie Ransoli and his orchestra, the crowd, just a little bit tired but still in excellent spirits, loaded into the CCC truck homeward bound. It is reported that there will be another of those dances next month and a great many of our local young people are already planning to take advantage of another enjoyable evening. The boys make excellent hosts and deserve much credit for making the occasion such a huge success.

Innocent Until Found Guilty
In England, as in the United States, the accused person is presumed to be innocent until found guilty. In criminal procedure, the presumption of innocence abides with him throughout the trial.

Told the Girl
Father—Did you tell Cyril I'll cut him out of my will if he marries that girl?
Wife—Mother—No, I did better that—I told the kid.

Wife—Fred, I shall have to get some new clothes this fall.
Hubby—Great Scott, woman! That's just what you said last year.

SNAP! LIKE THAT!

A lady residing in a suburb became interested in a gang of workmen who were making some street repairs in front of her house. She halted to watch the operations.

"Which one is the foreman?" she asked.

"I am," stated a broad-shouldered man with a proud smile.

"Really, are you?" she asked.

"Am I?" he asked. "I'll prove it to ye, ma'am." He glanced about singling out the nearest workman.

"Dugan," he barked, "ye're fired!"

Statistics

"You seem to favor statistical debate."

"I do," answered Senator Sorghum. "I hope that conversation may avert riotous demonstrations. I dislike the new statistical tendency to keep count of the killed or wounded innocent bystanders."

Art Mart

"Do you think America will take a leading place in art as it has taken in commerce?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax.

"We captains of industry are just waking up to the advantages that art affords if you know how to buy and when to sell."

BATTER UP!

Janitor—Can I get off this afternoon to go to a funeral?

Manager—Whose funeral?

Janitor—I guess it's going to be the home team's.

True Love

"Are you sure you love me?" said a pretty girl to her admirer.

"Love you!" echoed the smitten one.

"Why, darling, while I was bidding you good-by on the porch last night your dog bit a piece out of the calf of my leg, and I never noticed it till I got home."

Not Her Trade

"This young lady is not a minor, is she?" asked the marriage license clerk of the youthful bride-to-be.

"Why no, she's been working at the millinery trade," replied the surprised young man.—Capper's Weekly.

Bad Business

Wife—Oh, hubby, get the doctor; baby swallowed a nickel.

Hubby—What, pay several dollars to get the doctor for a visit to recover 5 cents the baby swallowed? Nothing doing.

Marvelous, Holmes

Boarder—I believe we have a new dishwasher in the kitchen.

Second Ditto—Why so, Sherlock?

Boarder—Because the fingerprints on the tumblers are different.

A Different Matter

Master of House (in a rage)—Who told you to put that paper on the wall?

Decorator—Your wife, sir.

Master of House (subsiding)—It's pretty, isn't it?—Answers Magazine.

All Set

Friend—There is talk of the next war being fought with radio.

Main—Well, I'm in training. I've listened to some terrific programs during the past few months.

AGAIN

Wife—Fred, I shall have to get some new clothes this fall.

Hubby—Great Scott, woman! That's just what you said last year.

"Every Winter Had Terrible Colds"

Nurse's Grateful Letter

Mohawk, N. Y., Oct. 9.—"I want to thank you for the wonderful cough and cold medicine Buckley's Mixture. I bought the first bottle last winter for the old gentleman whom I am taking care of and he has had every winter and fall, terrible colds. The first dose helped and the third dose cold was gone—it does such quick work. Mrs. C. Davis."

Don't take chances. Often the most stubborn, racking cough swiftly yields to the powerful influence of Buckley's Mixture (triple acting)—rapidly out-selling all other cough and cold remedies.

Get a 45c bottle at Mac & Gidley, druggists, or any drug store. Safe and guaranteed always.

Many Antelopes in South Africa
A great variety of antelopes are found in South Africa, ranging from the diminutive blue buck or miltiti to the eland.
